K-9 Knocks Out Drugs

Blakely Pfenninger

Officer Deagen and his dog, Cooper

The police dogs came and showed us that they can find drugs. It was so cool! The officer's dog was named Cooper. They showed us that when Cooper finds drugs he scratches at it. Not all dogs alert in the same way. Some scratch, some lay down, some bark. We asked Officer Deagen what kind of dogs can be used to find drugs. He said any kind of dog can be trained to find drugs.

They also wanted to teach us to not take medicine from other people. You should only take medicine from your parents, doctor, or pharmacist. They taught us a chant.

Just remember-
I am proud to be drug free!

All About Mrs. Rohde

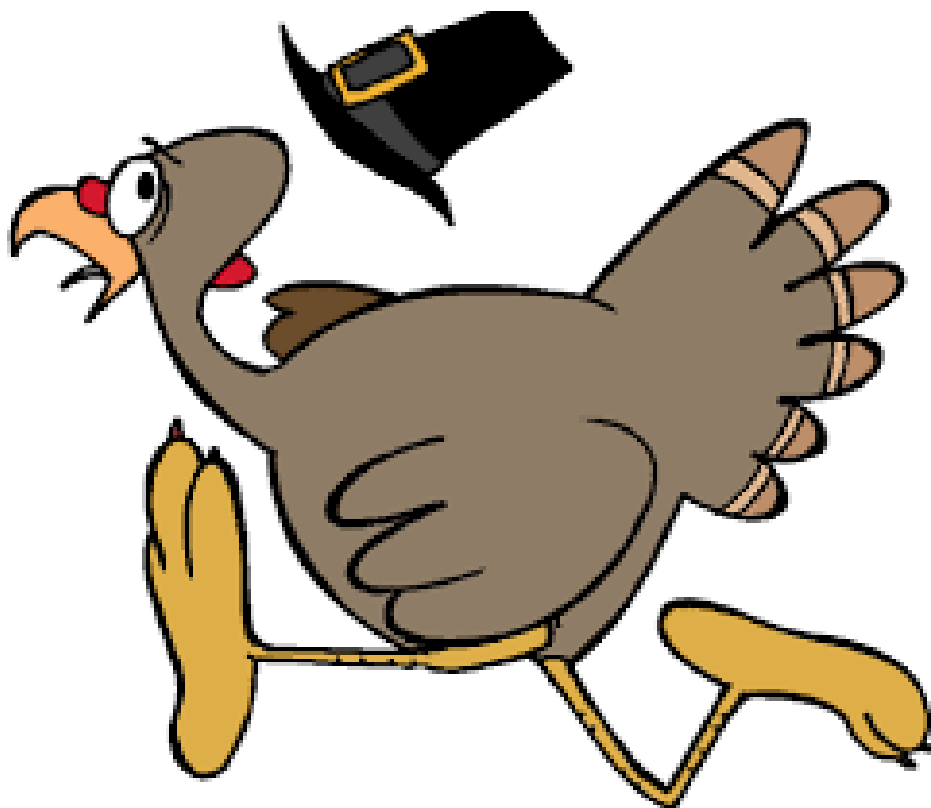

Mia Sanchez & Aleyna Mica

We interviewed Mrs. Rohde. She is the associate principal at Vogel. This is her first year doing it. She is learning lots of new things. Her favorite part is working with the kids and parents. She has some challenges, but has a checklist to help her out.

She is excited about her new role. She is looking forward to a grant we are getting. It lets the students decide on new things for our school.

The Mischievous Turkey

Felix Rios

Tom was getting chased by James. James was a farmer, and he was trying to catch Tom for Thanksgiving. Sadly, he caught Tom. Or so he thought... Tom had switched himself with a chicken. Quickly James figured that out, but James found where Tom was. He had him but Tom talked with the chickens. He told them if they helped him escape, he would give them food. So the chickens helped him escape. Tom didn't know that James had put a very thin string on him. Their dog Sherman had freed Tom from the string. Tom told James that if he bought a turkey for Thanksgiving he would do all the work on the farm. James listened and set Tom free.

Sports Corner

Luke Bell & Coulter Weaver

The Seguin Matador Football team ended their season after the first round of playoffs. They fought hard and had a great season.

Be sure to check out the Seguin Matador basketball teams in their upcoming season! The girls first home game is November 21st. The boys first home game is November 23rd.
